About Kane County's Community Emergency Notification System

Kane County, Utah - Office of Emergency Services has implemented a Community Emergency Notification System. It allows the County to rapidly notify residents and businesses by telephone. In the event of an emergency, an operator using the system can identify the affected neighborhood or region of the County and record a message that describes the situation. The system will automatically call listed and unlisted telephone numbers within the affected area and deliver the recorded message. If phone lines are busy, the system will attempt to redial those numbers to make contact. If an answering machine picks up the call, the emergency message will be left on the machine.

Sign Up for Cellular or Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) Service

Cellular or VoIP phone numbers are not currently in the system database. If you would like to be contacted on your cell or VoIP phone, you must register your number. Please note that the service is for Kane County businesses and residences. Calls regarding property or situations outside Kane County are not covered. While phone numbers can be outside of Kane County service, you must enter a valid address within the boundaries of Kane County to be eligible for the service. The County will contact you annually via your e-mail address to verify that the phone information is still valid. If the phone number is not confirmed it will be removed from the database.

Benefits of Signing Up For Community Emergency Notification System

The system allows you to quickly receive emergency notifications that may affect your home. You do not have to purchase any new equipment and you will only be notified of emergencies that affect the area your home or business is located.
